Thank you to everyone that provided these suggestions:

"Sleigh Ride" makes a good beginner routine or look for a bluegrass version of a song you like.

"Christmas Time's A Comin'" has a good beat also.

David Spender (drs7591@atmc.net)

There are several older Clog-Cues that are Christmas Music. I always used the song "We Need a Little Christmas" from the Musical Mame. I also believe there is a bluegrass Album called "Pickin on Christmas"

Lois

We clog to quite a few Christmas Songs. We have a routine to Two Step Around the Christmas Tree--I Believe in Santa Claus--With Bells On--Reindeer Boogie--Christmas Time Is Coming--Swinging Home for Christmas--Old Hippie Christmas--. We have quite a few more but can't think of all of them now. Each year we try to add a new one to our collection. This year we did George Strait's "Merry Christmas Striat to You"

We have a Christmas Party each year and the children love to do the Limbo. That is a traditional favorite with them but would love to hear more ideas.

Heather (Dance@cloggingconnection.com)

Try movies, the more modern, the more upbeat and danceable the tunes tend to be. Also Disney Pop artists tend to put out some pretty peppy Christmas songs.

Missy Shinoski (kloghop@sbcglobal.net)

Vince Gill has an instrumental on an older album to Santa Claus is Coming to Town. There is also an old clog cue that Stevens still might sell on cd – the same name as the Vince Gill song.

Joe VanHorn (jjvscc1@aol.com)

We currently are using: Jingle Bell Rock by Aaron Tippin, Jingle Bells by Lorie Line, Jingle Bells by Crazy Frog and Polar Express from the soundtrack.
